ROLL CALL CHAIRMAN APPEALS FOR PUBLIC SUPPORT IN CAMPAIGN

Asks for Volunteers to Put the Work Over in One Day

RED CROSS IS FOR HUMANITY

Editor Mail—

I want first to thank you for the fine article you printed in your issue of the 9th in regard to the annual Roll Call for the Charleroi Chapter of the American Red Cross. As the Roll Call Chairman I appreciate your good work in our behalf in our own city. I wish to state however that your efforts are in accord with the efforts of the entire press of our nation, which has so splendidly endorsed this most worthy organization and its great humanitarian work. Surely the Red Cross with its wonderful work must commend itself to all.

Are we ready to do our part? Our men, women and children will be asked again to continue their membership. We need the assistance of one hundred women who will lay aside their household cares for one day and work on this Roll Call.

"Do it now" will be our "Watchword." We appeal to all the women who will work to come forward and volunteer. Surely you will not refuse when you can be such a helper in this campaign. The time limit set is Armistice Day until Thanksgiving Day. Our plans call for a complete canvass in one day. Many hands will make the work light. Will you, good friend lay aside your duties and give this day to the Red Cross?

Remember the Red Cross

It is now two years since the armistice closed the greatest period of activity that the Red Cross has ever known. But even peace has much need for its services. Not only has the Red Cross done its share in the reconstruction of Europe such as caring for the eleven million war orphans of the continent and combating the typhus epidemic, it has had its hands full of work in the United States.

During the last year the American Red Cross was called on for rescue work in seventy-three public disasters: towns wrecked by tornadoes or devastated by storms and floods, communities visited by fire or earthquake, ships wrecked on the coast or train collisions. By these disasters 850 persons were killed, 1500 injured and 13,000 left homeless and destitute, and property destroyed to the value of $85,000,000. In every case first aid came from the Red Cross, which is building up a special $5,000,000 fund for preparedness against such emergencies.

It is impossible for an army of relief to disband. When the last soldier has been demobilized and the last warship sent to the scrap heap there will still be fire and flood, shipwreck and storm, industrial accident and epidemic disease. If individually we escape these dangers—of which no one has any assurance—we still owe it to our country as a patriotic duty to support the organization which makes America safe against the recurrent perils of peace. A contribution to the Red Cross has never yet been generosity misplaced.

Our plans do not call for a canvass of the factories. You will therefore leave your Red Cross money at home. Please have it ready and help the workers. Sign up and hurry them along to the next home. Remember how wonderfully the Red Cross came to our own rescue in the great Flu epidemic. Over Four thousand dollars from our Local Red Cross Chapter was used to combat that dreadful disease. Surely such work will meet with your approval. Fifty cents of every dollar received from annual memberships dues is retained by the local chapter. The balance of all membership is forwarded to National headquarters at Washington to carry on their greater work. The Call is Nation wide—but the call comes to you now. We need the help of every church, school organization and individual and we trust our appeal will reach every God-fearing man, woman, boy and girl in our whole city. That they will demand a part in this splendid work. Let us hope when the day of the canvass comes that everyone will proudly wear a Red Cross Button and be equally happy to hang the Red Cross Card in your window. Surely we can all find cause to rejoice in the Red Cross—the Greatest Mother in the World—for her self sacrificing devotion to distress and destitution, whenever found. Good reader we are counting on you.

Very Sincerely,

John D. Berryman,
Roll Call Chairman.
Charleroi Chapter American Red Cross.

LAST HOME GAME FOR THE SEASON

Tomorrow afternoon at four o'clock the Charleroi High school football team will play the California Normal team. This will be the last home game of the season. Although the Normal boys got a late start this year they are now at the top of their form and a hotly contested game will most likely take place. Coach Stahlman has been getting after some of the local boys and the team will be in good shape for the game tomorrow. Kick-off at four o'clock.

WOMEN TO DEMAND DRY ENFORCEMENT ACT

Women of Pennsylvania are going to the next legislative session at Harrisburg in January, organized in force, to call for the enactment of a state law which will make the Key-stone State "dry" in fact as well as in name. From what has been heard at the State capital preliminary drafts of bills have been prepared and will be considered within the next month or so by leaders of women's organizations who will then serve them to leaders and "serve notice."

The idea is to have a state enforcement law which will make it the duty of every public officer charged with enforcement of law to carry it out just as the Brooks high license act of 1883 and its supplements. This will do away with any state enforcement officialdom and make it the duty of every state, county and city official to enforce the law instead of leaving it for the federal authorities.

First signs of this movement have been discerned at Harrisburg, and legislators-elect visiting at the State capital admit that the women of their home districts appear to have considerable on their minds in regard to effective and enforceable liquor regulations.

RAILROADS REACHING NORMAL CONDITIONS

Traffic statistics issued on Monday by the Pennsylvania Railroad showed that of 129,745 passenger trains operating in the Pittsburgh district during September, 82 per cent arrived at their destination on time. This is an improvement of 5.2 per cent over March, 1920, when 112,774 trains were operated. Of all the passenger trains operated over the Pennsylvania system during the month, 92.4 per cent made schedule time for their runs. This includes those which left their starting point late, but lost no time before reaching their destination.

Notice To Tax Payers

All taxes for the year 1920 must be paid not later than November 15. After that date taxes will be placed in the hands of the Constable for collection.

SUPPLY COMPANY IS GRADING FOR SWITCH

Grading operations were begun Tuesday afternoon by the Charleroi Supply Company for a siding along their property above Second street, to extend southward almost to the water tank. A steam digger was put to work to remove the dirt, which will be piled on the company's property and then graded off. An additional track will also be provided for to extend from the railroad to the river in order to accommodate the varying needs of the company. The concrete foundation for the big motor truck scales has been completed and work on the superstructure will likely begin soon.

REPLACING SLIPPERY WALK ON FIFTH ST.

The Charleroi Lumber company is placing a new concrete pavement on Fifth street in front of the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church. The new pavement will replace the slippery brick which have been such a menace to pedestrians in going and coming along that section of Fifth. As one of the workmen remarked, after hearing so many public commendations for the change, "this is the most popular job in town."

WEST PENN COMPLETES BIG ELECTRIC TRANSMISSION LINE

LIQUOR SELLERS WERE GIVEN HEAVY SENTENCE

In criminal court at Washington on Tuesday three liquor cases were listed for trial. In each case the defendant threw up his hands and was willing to pay a fine and costs. In each case the minimum sentence of $500 and costs and three months in jail was imposed. The defendants were Abe Sakolsky of Burgettstown; and Morris Labowitz and Albert Sam of VanVoorhis.

Construction Required One Year, and One Million in Money

IMPORTANT CONNECTING LINE

A steel tower high tension electric transmission line connecting the West Penn Power company's new plant at Springdale with the Connellsville Coke Region was recently completed at a cost of nearly $1,000,000 and is now in service. It extends from Springdale to Crab Tree near Greensburg, a distance of 18 miles. Work was begun in October, 1919, and continued with little interruption notwithstanding the severe winter weather, bad roads and other impediments.

The line consists of 152 towers, with twin dead-end and twin suspension towers at Logans Ferry where the wires are strung across the Allegheny river from the power plant. The towers are of two heights, 76 feet 9 inches, and 85 feet 9 inches, and they vary in weight from 7,772 pounds to 11,674 pounds. In all 1,558,007 pounds of steel went into the line.

Towers were assembled on the ground and then hoisted into place on the concrete foundations. Five or six towers a day were erected by the erection gang which consisted of a foreman and 12 men. After they were raised a crew of six men strung insulators on the towers and they were followed by the wire stringing crew of about 40 men who completed a mile of tower line circuit every two days or three miles a week. This included stringing, sagging to the proper height and attaching to the insulators eight wires. The stringing of wires across the river at Logans Ferry required six days.

During the construction, camps were established at Logans Ferry near Murraysville, at Center and near Greensburg.

The new tower line, which is insulated for as high as 132,000 volts, at present carries a 25,000 volt current. It forms an important link in the interconnection of the West Penn's three great power plants, Connellsville, Windsor, W. Va., and Springdale. Another steel tower line extends from Windsor, W. Va., to Washington, Pa.

MORE EGG DEALERS TO FACE PROSECUTION

Filing of informations, which was to have been done on Tuesday, against more than 72 egg dealers in Allegheny county, was postponed until Friday, when more dealers will be accused. It is probable that more than 100 merchants will be arraigned on charges of selling storage eggs as strictly fresh, preferred by agents of the State Bureau of Foods.

HOOP POLES ARE SPEEDY ROLLERS

The Hoop Poles were too long for the Misfits, and as a consequence took two games out of three at the Elks' bowling alleys last night. Capt. Hess had perfect control of his speed ball last night and led his team to victory with the first two games, and had a good side kick in Crawford, who rolled three nice games. Lee Honsaker also came through with three nice games. The last game was won by the Misfits by the entire team rolling up to the top form, beating the Hoop Poles by 46 pins. For the Misfits, Bailey was the star bowler, followed by Zwick and Capt. Brown. Tonight the Champs hook up with the Lunks. Game called at 8:30.

A birthday dinner was given Dr. J. W. Manon at his home last evening, when a few of his friends, among them Dr. and Mrs. R. Palmer and Dr. and Mrs. C. Farquhar of Monessen, were present. OFFHAND JUSTICE.

Among the more or less important items of news now floating about the country is one which tells of a lawsuit in South Carolina, in which two Negroes claimed the ownership of a rooster. The court, instead of hearing the evidence, took the rooster under his arm and proceeded to a point half way between the homes of the plaintiff and defendant where he loosed the bird and permitted it to decide the case. The judge knew that the rooster would not deceive the court by going to the wrong back yard, but it is not always possible to bring in a witness as incapable of deception as a rooster undoubtedly is. However, there are other methods of getting at justice which are equally beyond the wisdom of Blackstone.

Recently a country artisan who acts as judge in the Sinn Fien government of Ireland was called upon to divide a tract of land between two brothers. The lawyers would call it a suit for partition and would have proceeded with great formality to file their bills and answers and to take testimony and to harangue the court, but not so with the Irish mechanic. He told one of the quarrelling brothers to divide the land exactly as he thought right, but with the understanding that the other brother was to have his choice of the parcels. It is reported that this decision proved entirely satisfactory. There is no reason why it should not work out fairly and certainly its simplicity is beautiful.

However, such short cuts to justice are not always possible, but the fact that they are sometimes available warrants a doubt whether the settled rules or judicial procedure ought not be unsettled rules or judicial procedure ought not be unsettled sufficiently to make room now and then for the adoption of unusual methods in unusual cases.

PANAMA CANAL TOLLS.

It is intimated that President-elect Harding's visit to the Panama canal is not only to escape office seekers and the cares which naturally come to one who has been so recently been chosen to such an exalted position, but to study at first hand the canal system and the operation of the tolls system, with a view to finding out just what is the effect of the latter on American commerce.

When the canal was completed and placed in commission during the term of President Taft, American eastwise shipping was allowed free tolls, but shortly after Mr. Wilson became President this privilege was abolished. The President appeared before Congress and said that unless his request was granted it would greatly embarrass him in the foreign department of the country's affairs. No reason was advanced except the statement as printed above, and Congress being of Mr. Wilson's political party complexion, the request was granted and tolls imposed on American shipping.

Now Senator Harding proposes to secure a more intimate knowledge of conditions as they exist on the canal. And likewise he will likely ascertain the mysterious reason why Mr. Wilson asked Congress to impose the tolls. Further, he is likely to recommend that the treaty be changed so that American shipping as originally contemplated, can pass free through the Panama canal, which American money and American brains were responsible for.

Who said that the Wall street bettors odds had no significance? They told the store with startling accuracy. They usually do. Four years ago they started out with heavy odds in favor of Hughes, and closed the campaign at even money. This was an exceedingly accurate picture of public sentiment as shown by the decision, finally resting with the mountain counties of California.

Marriage license was issued in Cumberland, Md., last Friday. November 5th, to Theodore H. Sloan and Leanna Stephenson, both of Charleroi.

"Crooked Usage"
This explains much for a London street possibly arose from the fact that the word "usage" in former times was applied to the streets of common law, or paths between private plots of cultivated land. London's "Crooked Usage" street was probably one of these paths.

Evolution of the Harp.
The modern harp has evolved from types found among the Egyptians, Assyrians, Hebrews and various Celtic nations. No doubt the harp originated in the archery of olden times, and the twang of the re-entrant bow string.

Waterspouts and Cloudbursts.
A cloudburst is simply a sudden copious rainfall, as if the whole cloud had been precipitated at once. Waterspouts are bursting rain-clouds, accompanied by whirlwind, which whip the rain into dense, whirling columns of water.

George Washington's principal diversion was training baby foxes. He was fond of fox hunting. He took the animals home and trained them by all kinds of tricks, which he often exhibited to friends.

Worth Cultivating.
Is it not a thing divine to have a smile which, none know how, has the power to lighten the weight of their gloomy chain which all the time in a cruel drag belted about? Victor Hugo.

Anger Poison.
"Advancing years have caused me to forego the luxury of temper," a middle-aged woman said. "Be slow to wrath" might well be one's guide at every period of life, but it is absolutely essential in the middle years, when fits of anger set up a positive poison in the system. Twice in the last year I have been made seriously ill by giving way to my temper. Now, for my health's sake, I endeavor to restrain it."—Exchange.

Pest Works Its Will.
The Mediterranean fly (karattitt capitata) has for several years caused considerable damage in Greece to the fruit and vegetable crops. Oranges, apples, pears, peaches, apricots, plums and tomatoes have been especially affected. No remedy has yet been discovered, and there seems to have been little attempt to prevent the spread of this pest.

Many Changes for Grasshopper Falls.
Valley Falls was originally named Grasshopper Falls. The legislature of 1863 changed it to Sawtelle Falls. It was changed back to Grasshopper Falls the next year because Sol Miller dubbed it "Sawtelle Falls." And it was Grasshopper Falls until 1873, when the name was changed to Valley Falls, and everybody lived happily ever after.—Corning (Kau.) Gazette.

It is stated upon the authority of no less learned a body than the bureau of biological survey that all insects obtain their oxygen supplies through small holes in their bodies. When such an oily substance as gasoline comes into contact with the pests the sources of their oxygen supply are closed, and lacking breath, they naturally die in a short time.

The Backward Bird.
The flamingo performs a number of its daily duties in a backward or upside down manner. When the flamingo dives, it rests its head in the mud on the bottom of a shallow stream, and while it strains the insects out of the water it takes both a backward and an upside-down view of the world about it.

If any electric washing machine feature is worthwhile, the Gainaday has it. The efficiency of washing clothes, spotlessly clean in the revolving, reversing Gainaday cylinder is undisputed. Of great importance, too, is the powerful wringer which wrings the clothes from washer to rinse water to blue water and into the basket, all without moving the machine.

BOND CERTIFICATE OF IRISH REPUBLIC

M. T. Crowley has on display in his window on McKean avenue a Bond Certificate of the Republic of Ireland, of the denomination of $25.00. This bond will be redeemed when Britain's military rule in Ireland ceases and after the new Republic has been recognized. It is said there are about two thousand dollars' worth of these bonds in Charleroi, the money being subscribed to assist in maintaining the Sinn Fein government which has been in operation in Ireland for the past three or four years.

PRESBYTERIANS TO MEET A HEAVY DEFICIT

To finance its 1920-21 budget and to meet its share of the Interchurch World and New Era Movement debts the Presbyterian church in the United States needs $24,000,000—of which Pittsburgh Presbyterians share is $1,000,000. Members of the Presbytery were told on Tuesday at a meeting in the First Church, Pittsburgh. A per capita tax of $1.00 fixed approximately as required to meet the interchurch emergency debt, means that the Pittsburgh Presbytery must raise $60,000 and that within a few weeks. The Presbytery before March 1 next also must meet its pro rata share of the usual annual budget, $23,000,000 for the entire church increased about 40 per cent over the preceding year.

COST OF NECESSITIES ON THE DOWNWARD MOVE

For the first time in almost four years flour sold in Minneapolis under the $10 a barrel mark at the mills in that city on Tuesday. Quotations on family patents broke 55c to 75c on Tuesday, making the range of prices $9.65 to $10 a barrel. Monday's sharp decline in wheat was given as the cause.

ANOTHER DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR AT COUNTRY CLUB

The afternoon euchre, followed by the dinner dance at the Monongahela Valley Country Club, held Wednesday afternoon and evening, was well attended, a number of members and guests being present from the four towns. Music was furnished by the W. & J. College Boys' Orchestra, which featured Templeton in vocal selections, and it proved to be a most delightful feature of the evening. These affairs at the Country Club appear to be growing in popularity, and are occasions thoroughly enjoyed by members.

CONVICTED OF ROBBERY FREDERICKTOWN POSTOFFICE

John Ramsey and Hugh Lane were found guilty in the United States District Court at Pittsburgh, before Judge W. H. H. Thomson, on Wednesday, on a charge of robbing the postoffice at Fredericktown. They will be sentenced Saturday. According to police officials Ramsey was a member of the famous "Cooley" gang which almost thirty years ago terrorized the southern portion of Fayette county.

Twenty new cases of measles were reported to the Board of Health Wednesday morning, thus showing there is no abatement of the spread of the malady in the borough.

Officials of the force of the First National Bank of Monessen honored J. Howard Kelly, president of the institution, with a complimentary dinner at the Country Club on Tuesday night, in commemoration of the completion of twenty years' service with the financial institution. It was on that date in 1900 that Mr. Kelly accepted his first position with the bank, going from the tin plate mill. He has not only held responsible position with that bank during that period, but also has had direction of the Monessen Trust company. Covers were laid for 25 at the dinner.

GAVE NEW IDEA TO WORLD

Architect Admits He Owe to Lucky Dream Structural Scheme Which Makes Him Famous.

When the new three-story Bahai temple, which is to cost several million dollars, is erected in Chicago, a dream that Louis Bourgeois of New York city struggled with for 12 years to put into plans and designs will have materialized.

More than 25 years ago Bourgeois sat on the sea shore one night tracing out lines he found in the study of the movement of the stars. A wave rushed in over his markings on the sands, and they were lost. Just 12 years ago he heard of the competition for the Bahai temple. He mortgaged his home, and bought a small confectionery store which his wife, an artist, ran while he worked. Baha "O" fish, founder of Bahaiism, had adopted nine as the symbolic number of his religious movement, and said his temples should have nine sides, with as many equal gates for the nine great world religions he wished to unite in one temple.

Bourgeois sketched the idea; but he had to put it in plaster, as he did not know how to carve. So one Sunday a friend taught him. And then he carved the first stories one by one, designing the second only after the first was completed, and the third only when details of the second were final. His model took first prize. And it is probable that Abul Bahai, present pontiff of Bahaiism, will come to Chicago to live.

BEST FORM OF WIND MOTOR

Machine That Will Work in Perfect Calm Is Recent Invention of a Swedish Manufacturer.

For decades attempts at constructing a wind motor that works so steadily as to be used profitably for generating electricity failed because wind motor and generator were directly connected by a rod, and the quantity of electric current was in direct proportion to the power developed by the motor.

A Stockholm (Sweden) manufacturer succeeded recently in constructing a satisfactory wind motor. While the wind is strong only part of the motor's power is utilized to drive the generator, while the surplus power lifts a heavy weight attached to an endless chain. When the wind is not strong enough to furnish sufficient motor power, or ceases wholly, the generator is kept in motion by the force of the slowly falling weight.

The famous Swedish engineer, Jansson, figures that the generator is kept working at full capacity even if absolute calm prevail for three days.

Improved Aluminum.

A curious new form of aluminum has been attracting attention in France. When the pure metal is heated in a vacuum, 97 per cent of it is slowly volatilized in 73 hours at about 1,100 degrees Centigrade; and the whole is volatilized in 30 hours at 1,200 degrees Centigrade. A small portion always proves less volatile than the rest. Quite often a kind of fractional distillation yields an aluminum residue that has increased affinity for oxygen, and within a month this is completely changed into a bulky grayish-white mixture of alumina and aluminum. One suggestion is that impurities of iron or silicon impart this peculiarity. But analysis shows only four per cent of iron and five per cent of silicon, and the form of metal so readily oxidized proves, therefore, to be purer than the aluminum used for kitchen utensils and various other purposes with no tendency to become oxidized. It is concluded that the easily oxidized metal is an allotropic form of aluminum.

Prepared for Tourists.

Tourists flocking to the war zone are finding novel hotel arrangements and conditions more comfortable than expected in view of the fact that hardly a hotel was left habitable when the Germans retreated eighteen months ago. The latest innovation of French tourist agencies is a hotel opened in Arras, where a series of ordinary railroad coaches are arranged in a square with a tent roof over the center, forming reception and dining rooms. The Arras train hotels have eighty rooms, each coach providing four compartments large enough to accommodate the most fastidious customers. Bungalow hotels are being erected, especially in the Argonne, where the shell-torn trees are being razed to provide timber for Canadian style cottages.

Americans who have forgotten the geography lessons of their school days will be surprised by statements made in an article on Chinese trade published in Shipping, Manila, it says, which is an American Insular possession, is closer to China than is Tokyo, the capital of Japan. The Alaskan coast is within 50 miles of Siberia. Therefore, the article concludes, it would seem that America should be more interested in Asiatic than in European trade.—From the Outlook.

New Idea for Garage.

The newest public garage has a feature saving the automobile owner a lot of annoyance which he invariably experiences in getting his car into a space assigned to him at a public garage. The new idea is to run it on a transfer truck which carries the car to the desired place and the automobile is run off the track into its place. This arrangement also conserves floor space.

FISHING IN BOYHOOD DAYS

Glorious Time When Mother Kept Supper and Praised the Five Little Sunfish.

The city man who was the country boy of yesterday closes his eyes a few minutes and lives over again a summer afternoon of long ago, notes the Milwaukee Journal. A day when his little crowd, equipped with enough worms to feed a school of fish, betook itself to the pool where it was annually reported and fervently believed the big bass were hiding.

They didn't get big bass. Bats came slowly, and those they landed were little sunfish. Is there anywhere in life like a minkie big enough to give him as great a thrill as those little sunfish? He was late to supper, but there was supper kept for him. And mother didn't scold. She was pleased as punch, and told him to hurry and clean the fish, and she would cook them. And she did.

No other grown person praised his catch. In all the world he and mother alone recognized how worth while those five little sunfish were. And yet it didn't seem wonderful that she didn't ask him where the bass were. That was what other people did.

It was a wonderful day, but as he looks back on it, he sees that the wonderful thing was not the little string of "boy's fish," but the mother who was so pleased that she stood over a hot stove cooking them. How glad she was to do it. How happy she would be if she could do it again, today. But she lives too far away now.

We wonder if he remembers to write and tell her of his discovery—his discovery that mother's heart was big enough to make his little fish a splendid catch.

FOREST ON DRIFTING SANDS

Frenchman's Ingenuity Has Made of Waste Place a Region of Fertility and Usefulness.

In the southwest corner of France, between the rivers Adour and Garonne, are long stretches of pine woods, green and cool. Where these pines now stand was a barren waste in the middle of the eighteenth century. Sun and wind ried with each other in making the land drier and dustier. Over the stormy bay of Biscay came winds that set up great sand storms and sometimes buried whole villages. But at last there came along a man who acknowledged fate only as something to be overcome. His name was Bremon tier and he was an inspector of roads. He began fencing in the desert. He built a fence and behind it planted a handful of broom seeds. Behind the broom seeds he put seeds of the pine. The fence protected the broom seeds and the broom grew. Then the broom in its turn afforded shelter to the delicate pine shoots. Soon the pines spread and their tough roots bound this sandy soil together. The first step was accomplished. Then canals were made to drain the wet parts and carry water to the dry.

Ammonia From the Air.

A syndicate has been formed to establish a nitrogen factory for the manufacture of ammonia synthetically from the nitrogen of the air, says the American Chamber of Commerce in London.

The syndicate has purchased the extensive site in County Durham which the British government acquired more than two years ago for the purpose of building a factory. The capital required will be $225,000,000.

The process to be adopted, says the American chamber, will be on the principle of the German chemist, Haber. Nitrogen and hydrogen will be combined into ammonia under pressure at a high temperature, the ammonia then being converted into nitric acid or other nitrates as may be required either for the manufacture of explosives or for use as fertilizers.

Must Not Disturb Swans.

Even the highest in the French Republic must bow before the edicts of the French protocol, as Mme. Deschanel, wife of the president, learned when she objected to the presence of five white swans in the Elysee palace ponds. The swans, Mme. Deschanel admitted, were very beautiful, but nearly every morning early they disturbed the rest of the president's household, and therefore she inquired whether they could not be removed. The chief of the protocol found that sixty years ago a clause was written in the protocol which provided that not less than five swans must be kept in the Elysee palace grounds, for the feeding of which the keeper of the presidential gardens was responsible.

Miss Gwendoline Farrar, who inherited a fortune of several million dollars from her father, Sir George Farrar, the Rand millionaire, who was one of those sentenced to death by Boers for taking part in the Jameson raid, is one young woman who can keep a secret. For more than a year Miss Farrar has been appearing on the London stage, and only recently was her identity discovered by accident.

Canada's Soldier Police.

The Canadian Northwest mounted police is one of the most noted organizations of the character in the world because of the efficiency of its service, which was established nearly 50 years ago. Recently the headquarters of the organization have been changed to Ottawa and the size of the organization enlarged and the territory covered by the scarlet-coated officials has been greatly increased.

Do Monkey Glands

Bring Health?

Why Run-Down Anaemic Men and Women Have Run-Down Glands

According to the newspaper clipping reproduced here, a half alive old man of seventy-two says he has become as young and healthy as he was at forty by merely eating a few capsules containing monkey glands.

Were this the sole gland success that has been reported, it might mean little. But it is only one of many remarkable cases of restored health and strength, which have recently been published in the press. Scarcely a week passes without some example of this new kind of treatment being printed in the leading newspapers of the country.

And now it seems that the gland extracts which are most often used are not necessarily those which come from monkeys. In fact many prefer the gland extracts of sheep and cattle when prescribed in tablet form.

It should not be supposed either that gland extracts are effective only with old people. For they are being used extensively by young men and women who are anaemic, run-down, nervous, thin, pale, weak with results that are unusual. As a tonic and strength builder gland extracts it would seem, have their greatest use.

The reason appears to be perfectly simple. According to those who have given this new treatment great thought, our health depends largely on ductless glands, which govern the building up of the billions of

GLAND CAPSULES GIVE MAN OF 72 THE HEALTH OF YOUTH

Robert George Laws, seventy-two, a retired London broker who arrived here recently on the liner Cedric, claims his health and strength were recently restored after years of illness by the use of capsules made up of monkey's glands.

He asserts fifty capsules made from the prescription of a Professor whose intestinal gland discoveries astounded the medical world not long ago, have added years to his life.

Laws appears to be about forty and possesses unusual strength. He asserts the administration of the monkey's glands restored his health after ten years' illness.

and we become weak and anaemic and generally run-down.

Gland extracts from animals may then be used to supply the very substance which the glands have failed to produce. And the result is that the cause of the run-down conditions is attacked. This idea of using animal extracts is not in itself new, pepsin, which has been used for years in indigestion, comes from the stomach of an animal.

While it may seem almost too good to be true there have been reports of people who say they have almost doubled their strength and endurance by this method and frequently results are said to be felt in the first few days. In fact, it would almost look as though there was at last a practical method of using this new gland discovery. Gland extracts from sheep and cattle in combination with calcium Glycerophosphate and nuxvomica, well known tonics, can now be purchased at any drug store under the name of Glandex compound.

Note—Glandex compound is prepared under the direction of the Glandex Company, 244 West 29th Street, New York, and is guaranteed to bring satisfactory benefit in two weeks or money refunded, so it can be taken with full confidence of results or no cost.

cells in the blood, muscles and nerve of the body. They do this by means of a substance called hormones which they supply to the blood. When the glands for any reason fail to supply these hormones the building up of our cells is slowed down.
